

Michaud Statement on Jobs Report and President-Elect Obama's Meeting with Economic Advisors

Friday, November 07 2008

BANGOR, ME - Today, Congressman Mike Michaud issued the following statement regarding today's jobs report and a meeting being convened by President-elect Barack Obama with his transition economic advisory board. The Department of Labor released its employment report for October showing a loss of another 240,000 American jobs, bringing the total number of jobs lost this year to 1.2 million, and a 14-year high jobless rate of 6.5 percent:

BANGOR, ME - Today, Congressman Mike Michaud issued the following statement regarding today's jobs report and a meeting being convened by President-elect Barack Obama with his transition economic advisory board. The Department of Labor released its employment report for October showing a loss of another 240,000 American jobs, bringing the total number of jobs lost this year to 1.2 million, and a 14-year high jobless rate of 6.5 percent:

"Millions of people in Maine and throughout our country are hurting. They are wondering how they are going to make ends meet, afford to heat their homes and put food on the table. We need to get our economy going again. The dismal jobs report released today makes the case for swift action drastically clear. I am pleased that President-elect Obama is hitting the ground running and making the economy his top priority. I look forward to working with him and my colleagues on both sides of the aisle in Congress to pass an economic stimulus so that we can begin to reverse these troubling economic trends."