

Michaud Statement on Swine Flu Cases in Maine

Wednesday, April 29 2009

WASHINGTON, DC &ndash; Today, Congressman Mike Michaud issued the following statement after learning about confirmed H1N1 Flu (swine) cases in Maine. &ldquo;The news that Mainers have come down with the swine flu drives home the need for our country to make sure all precautions are taken.

Today, the House of Representatives held a bipartisan briefing with Secretaries Napolitano and Sebelius. The briefing updated us on the health and safety issues surrounding the swine flu outbreak as well as the measures the government is taking to prevent the further spread of the disease. The federal government is taking the confirmed cases of swine flu very seriously.

WASHINGTON, DC &ndash; Today, Congressman Mike Michaud issued the following statement after learning about confirmed H1N1 Flu (swine) cases in Maine.

&ldquo;The news that Mainers have come down with the swine flu drives home the need for our country to make sure all precautions are taken. Today, the House of Representatives held a bipartisan briefing with Secretaries Napolitano and Sebelius. The briefing updated us on the health and safety issues surrounding the swine flu outbreak as well as the measures the government is taking to prevent the further spread of the disease. The federal government is taking the confirmed cases of swine flu very seriously.

&ldquo;I have featured a link to more information about the disease and its prevention on the front page of my website to help provide information to Mainers. It&rsquo;s important for Maine families to know and follow the advice of the Centers for Disease Control and our local and state authorities if we are going to best address this public health threat. This is a very serious issue, but it is important to not panic and take common sense precautions.&rdquo;

# #